

Web Reviews

American Autoimmune Related Diseases Association, Inc.

www.aarda.org

This site provides a quick summary of more than 56 autoimmune-related diseases. Relevant articles from newsletters and updates on research reports that deal with autoimmune diseases are provided, as are strategies for coping with autoimmune disease.

The Hepatitis Place

http://www.hepplace.com/AARDA2.html

The Hepatitis Place provides an overview of this common auto-immune disease. Readers can access information about the different types of hepatitis, the respective routes of transmission, risk factors, and methods of preventing the spread of the infection. If additional information is required, patients are referred to other informative links.

Lupus Foundation of America, Inc.

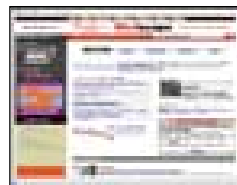

www.lupusnet.ucalgary.ca/

This site provides a quick summary of local, national, and internal research projects on lupus that are ongoing or have been completed. The site provides information about the disease and about medications and solutions to common problems, such as mouth ulcers or alopecia, that are associated with lupus. A list of related sites that pertain to lupus enables access to additional information.

Today on Medscape

www.medscape.com

This Web site is very useful to all healthcare providers. It provides free up-to-date information on new medications, treatment plans, clinical management, conference summaries, and much more. There are over 25,000 free full-text articles on line that are available for viewing. Completion of a brief on-line registration form is required to access the information on this Web site.

Correction

In the article titled "Providing Positive Outcomes through Compounding for Animal Cancer Patients," which was published in the July/August 2000 (Vol. 4, No. 4), issue of IJPC, on page 265, column 2, line 3, the "kg" needs to be changed to "g." The corrected sentence should read:

Body surface area is calculated by the following formula:

$$M^2 = \frac{Km \times W(g)^{0.67}}{10^4}$$

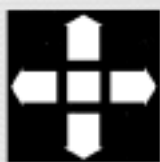

where Km = 10.1 for dogs and 10.0 for cats.

On the Cover

This small (about a 3-inch diameter) mortar and pestle is made of alabaster and may be from Greece or Turkey. Although functional, it may have been made for the tourist souvenir trade. It is owned by Col. Allen F. Almquist III, RPh, University Place, Washington.

STORE PLANNING STORE FIXTURES & STORE DECOR

Abrams Royal Pharmacy
Dallas, TX

Potts & Associates is the firm with the experience to assist pharmacists in planning their IV Clean Room, Compounding Laboratory, and developing a more professional image for their stores. Call us today for more information.

SERVING PHARMACISTS SINCE 1954

ROBERT p. potts & assoc.

2722 Fairmont, Dallas, Texas 75201
(214) 871-8747 • 800-255-5498 • fax: (214) 969-6937